

Internal Dispute Resolution Procedure (IDRP)

Members guide on how to raise a dispute &
Application Form

This booklet provides a straightforward guide to how the internal dispute resolution procedures operate in the Local Government Pension Scheme and is provided for general information only. It does not cover every aspect. It is not an interpretation of the scheme regulations. In the event of any unintentional differences, the scheme regulations will prevail. This booklet does not confer any contractual or statutory rights.

Introduction

From the day you join the pension scheme, to the day when benefits or dependent's benefits are paid, decisions about your pension are being made by both your employer and the Wiltshire Pension Fund.

The purpose of this document is to provide you with details of the formal complaint procedure to follow should you disagree with a decision affecting your pension benefits held within the scheme. The complaint procedure's official name is the 'Internal Dispute Resolution Procedure' (IDRP).

Resolving your complaint

Often a problem can be resolved quickly by contacting the decision maker directly. Whether this is your employer or the Wiltshire Pension Fund, the decision may have evolved from incorrect information being used or an initial misunderstanding.

Therefore, before going to the trouble of making a formal complaint, Wiltshire Pension Fund and/or your employer will welcome the opportunity to try to resolve the matter about which you are dissatisfied. An enquiry of this kind may save you a lot of time and trouble.

If you disagree with a decision that has been made you should contact the person who made the decision to see if a resolution can be reached. The contact details for Wiltshire Pension Fund can be found at the bottom of this guide. If after doing so you are still not satisfied with any decision made in relation to the scheme you have the right for this decision to be looked at again under the scheme's Internal Disputes Resolution Procedure (IDRP).

Who can raise a dispute?

You can use the Internal Dispute Resolution Procedure if:

- You are a member of the Wiltshire Pension Fund (WPF). This includes members who are currently paying into the Fund, members who have retired and draw a pension from us, or members who have preserved benefits 'on hold' with us. This also applies if you are a surviving non-dependant beneficiary of a deceased member of the scheme.
- You are a dependent. i.e. you are the widow, widower, surviving civil partner, eligible cohabiting partner or child of a member or prospective member.
- You are a prospective WPF member. I.e. you may not be a member of the Fund now, but you could become one if your employer brings you in to the scheme or you ask to join.

You can still use this procedure if you think you should fall into one of these categories and your complaint relates to whether you are such a person, or if you did so during the last six months. Please note that no charge is made at any stage for investigating a complaint under the IDRP. However, expenses that you will have to meet are your own (and/or your representative's) time, stationery and postage.

Using someone else to represent you

You can, if you wish, choose someone else to represent you in the making or handling of your complaint. For example, a friend, relative, solicitor or Trade union representative. You will need to provide written authority for your chosen representative to act for you by signing a simple statement to that effect.

If you are a child, or are, for some other reason, not capable of making or carrying on the complaint yourself, the complaint can also be made by a suitable representative.

If the person who is entitled to make the complaint has died, their personal representative (the person dealing with the estate) can make or carry on the complaint on their behalf.

Exemptions

Please note that your dispute will be exempt if:

- Proceedings have commenced in a court or tribunal.
- The Pensions Ombudsman has started an investigation.
- It is prescribed by regulations made by the Secretary of State.

What can I raise a dispute about?

From the day you join the pension scheme, various decisions are being made about your pension - both by your employer, and by ourselves here at Wiltshire Pension Fund. If you disagree with a decision, you can dispute it.

Examples of decisions made by your employer:

- Deciding whether you can retire on ill-health grounds,
- Your contribution rate and entitlement to a pension
- Deciding the level of pay the Fund should use to work out your pension

Examples of decisions made by Wiltshire Pension Fund:

- The calculation of your pension benefits
- Explaining how you are affected by Scheme rules

You should always be notified of a decision in writing. You should check that it is based on the correct information and that you agree with the decision. If you disagree with the decision you have the right to complain about it.

You also have the right to complain if you feel that there has been some maladministration in the way your case has been dealt with. For example, if you haven't been provided with adequate or timely information or if there has been an unreasonable delay in the payment of your pension.

Remember: If you are unhappy with any decision made by your employer you should contact them first before beginning the IDR process.

Internal Dispute Resolution Procedure (IDRP) – Stage 1

If you are still not satisfied with any decision made in relation to the scheme, you have the right for this decision to be looked at again under the scheme's Internal Disputes Resolution Procedure (IDRP). The IDR has two stages. Many complaints are resolved at the first stage.

How do I make an appeal?

If you need to make a formal complaint, you should make it in writing using the application form at the bottom of this guide to whomever you think is at fault whether that is your employer or Wiltshire Pension Fund. Please note that the appeal must be made within 6 months of the day when you were told of the decision you want to complain about or from when the decision should have been made but wasn't. The person considering your complaint can extend this if they think an extension is reasonable.

What information should I include on the Stage 1 application form?

When submitting an IDR application it is not enough to merely state that you do not agree with the original decision. You must set out your reasons. Anything you feel relevant to your complaint about the decision or issue you are appealing should be included. However, it is important to stick to the facts. You can attach any related information to the form including copies of letters you have been sent.

Where should I send the Stage 1 application form?

If you are complaining against a decision made by Wiltshire Pension Fund, then you should send your application form to:

Stage 1 Adjudicator
Wiltshire Pension Fund
County Hall
Trowbridge
Wiltshire
BA14 8JN

If your complaint is against your employer, please send your form to your employer's appointed person. If you do not know who your employer's appointed person is, please contact your employer directly or Wiltshire Pension Fund.

What happens next?

Your complaint will be considered carefully by a person nominated by the body that took the decision against which you wish to complain. This person is known as the 'Adjudicator' and are specified by the body that made the decision against which you wish to complain. The regulations do not stipulate who should be the adjudicator at the stage 1 of the dispute process. It could be, for example, the human resources manager, or payroll manager. It is for each employer and administering authority to decide who should fulfil this role.

Your case will be reviewed along with the Scheme rules and any other relevant legislation. To assist with the review, you may also be asked for further details. The Adjudicator should acknowledge your complaint and give you a decision two months of receiving your complaint.

Where it has not been possible for the Adjudicator to issue their decision within the two-month period, a letter will be sent to you explaining the reasons for the delay and provide an expected date for issuing a decision. Although in most cases the decision should be made within 2 months, there may be circumstances where the Adjudicator may wish to seek the views of the interested parties and those of the relevant administering authority before a final decision is taken. which may take longer.

Response from the Adjudicator

Once the Adjudicator has made a decision they will provide you with the following:

- a statement of their decision
- a reference to any legislation on which the nominated person relied
- if your case relates to the exercise of a discretion, a reference to the provisions of these Regulations conferring the discretion*
- if your appeal is not upheld, a reference should be made to your right to refer the disagreement for reconsideration by the appropriate administering authority and the time within which you may do so

- contact details for the Pensions Ombudsman who are available to give assistance with any issues that remain unresolved

*If the decision you complained about concerned the exercise of a discretion by the employer or Wiltshire Pension Fund, and the Adjudicator decides that the employer or Wiltshire Pension Fund should reconsider how they exercised their discretion, they will be required to reconsider their original decision.

If the Adjudicator's decision is contrary to the decision you complained about, the body that made the original decision will now have to deal with your case in accordance with the Adjudicator's decision.

Internal Dispute Resolution Procedure (IDRP) – Stage 2

If you are unhappy with the outcome of the Stage 1 decision, you have six months to make an appeal to a stage 2 referee to have it reconsidered. The Stage 2 referee is someone appointed by Wiltshire Council (as the administering authority for Wiltshire Pension Fund) but who was not involved in the first stage decision.

You can also make a Stage 2 appeal if:

- You have made a Stage 1 complaint and have received an interim letter but have not received a decision.
 - You can appeal after 7 months from the expected decision date.
- You have not received a decision or an interim letter from the Adjudicators following a Stage 1 complaint.
 - You can appeal after nine months from the date on which the Stage 1 application was made.

In either case, you should do this as soon as possible after the time limit has passed.

What details should be sent with a Stage 2 application?

All the information and details that were required for the Stage 1 application should be resubmitted at the stage 2 via the application form at the bottom of this guide. Also, where you have received a Stage 1 decision a copy of the decision letter and most importantly, an explanation of why you are dissatisfied with it should be explained on the application form.

As with appeals at the Stage 1 of the process, the person considering your application should acknowledge receipt of the appeals form and may request further information so that they can fully understand your complaint.

If your health is a factor in the complaint, you may be asked to attend a medical examination or consent to the release of your medical details to another independent registered medical practitioner (IRMP) for a further medical opinion. The review at the stage 2 would be undertaken by an IRMP not involved in the stage 1 decision.

Where should I send the Stage 2 application form?

You should send your Stage 2 application form to:

Director of Finance & Procurement
Wiltshire Council
County Hall
Trowbridge
Wiltshire
BA14 8JN

What happens next?

The stage 2 referee will re-examine your case based on any supporting information and may request for further detail from you and/or your employer to help understand your complaint.

Following this review, the Stage 2 referee should reply to you within 2 months of receiving your complaint. This reply will either:

- Provide you with a decision. This will either confirm or replace the Stage 1 decision, or
- Acknowledge your complaint and inform you of when you will receive a decision.

As is the case at stage 1, if the original decision was made in the exercise of a discretion and the administering authority decides that it was not exercised in a reasonable manner, they can only insist the employer or administering authority reconsider its discretion - they cannot replace their original decision with a decision of their own.

Other sources of help

The Pensions Advisory Service (TPAS)

TPAS provide independent and impartial information about pensions, free of charge, to members of the public. TPAS is available to assist members and beneficiaries of the scheme with any pensions query they may have or any general requests for information or guidance concerning their pension benefits. TPAS can be contacted at:

The Pensions Advisory Service
11 Belgrave Road, London, SW1V 1RB

The Pensions Ombudsman (TPO)

The Pensions Ombudsman solely deals with pension complaints. It can help if you have a complaint or dispute about the administration (including transfers/conversion) and/or management of personal and occupational pensions. Some examples of types of complaints it considers include (but are not limited to):

- automatic enrolment
- benefits: including incorrect calculation, failure to pay or late payment
- death benefits
- failure to provide information or act on instructions
- ill health
- interpretation of scheme rules
- misquote or misinformation
- transfers

You have the right to refer your complaint to The Pensions Ombudsman free of charge.

There is no financial limit on the amount of money that The Pensions Ombudsman can make a party award you. Its determinations are legally binding on all the parties and are enforceable in court.

Contact with The Pensions Ombudsman about a complaint needs to be made within three years of when the event(s) you are complaining about happened – or, if later, within three years of when you first knew about it (or ought to have known about it). There is discretion for those time limits to be extended.
